

L. P. Fisher, newspapers advertising agents, 21 Merchants' Exchange, San Francisco, is our authorized agent. This paper is kept on file in his office.

The Destitution of the Country.

The San Francisco Argonaut has compiled from Eastern papers a partial list of extracts showing the extreme destitution which prevails all over the country. In New York City it is proposed to start a number of public works to give employment to needy persons. In the history of New York City there has never been such suffering. Father Mahoney a Brooklyn pastor, who made a house to house canvass to satisfy himself regarding the reports of distress, declares that: "Never in all my experience has Brooklyn been in such a condition as at present. Right here among us hundreds of families are starving. I have seen strong men, steady, and industries, actually begging for bread to feed their starving children."

Several hundred men are sleeping nightly in the corridors of the City Hall of Chicago. Scores and thousands of people are being fed at the lakeside and other soup kitchens. One of the most distressing features is the large number of destitute young women seeking employment. The same report comes from Rochester, N. Y. In Pittsburgh they have organized work and pay men $1 a day. The Mayor of Boston says that "it is impossible to exaggerate the condition of affairs among the unemployed." In New York the steps and sidewalk in front of the charity headquarters are crowded with haggard women, "who fight like animals to near the door," and this striking sentence is added:

"They are in rags, many of them with shawls thrown over their heads and the hopelessness of utter failure in their faces."

Twenty thousand workmen live by public charity in Buffalo. The same report comes from Patterson, N. J. And even in Oakland and San Francisco the destitution is very great. Every department of the great Homestead Iron Works is closed down, throwing 2800 men out of employment. The great Palace Carpet Mills in Brooklyn have given notice that they are about to close down. This state of affairs is due first, to the contraction of the money of the country by the demonetization of silver, while the immediate cause of stopping of industry is due to the expectation of what will be done towards slaughtering the present tariff.

Understanding this, is it any wonder that nearly two-thirds of the voters in this city three days ago entered their solemn protest against the policy which has been inaugurated and which the Administration and both Houses of Congress seem determined to persevere in?

The dispatches yesterday morning made probably twenty millions of people in the United States anxious over what is going on in Hawaii. There was not one of the twenty millions, except some exceedingly bigoted partisans, who did not know that all that trouble and apprehension was due to the illegal performances of the President of the United States and his Secretary of State, and that the whole business came, not through any desire to have justice done in Hawaii, but to vent a narrow, personal, petty spite upon a former Administration. To carry that out, Honolulu has been kept in a state of alarm and apprehension since early last March. It is by far the most contemptible business ever indulged in by two of the foremost officers of the United States Government.—Salt Lake Tribune.

The Congressional Record has turned volume 25. The Record never has been a welcome exchange and we don't believe anybody would miss it if it were never published again. Its large circulation is probably due to the fact that it is free. It shows no advertising patronage, and no local news whatever.

"Sagebrush Gleanings is to be the title of a new magazine to be published in the interest of Nevada at the Midwinter Fair. It will be devoted to Nevada's undeveloped resources, artistically illustrated, and something after the pattern of The California.
